Why Mrs. Swinholm was Dismissed from her Clerkship.

[From Mrs. Swinholm's Reconstructionist.]

THE ASSASSINATION PLOT

When President Lincoln was murdered, nearly all loyal people believed that the South had made a serious mistake. A very few thought otherwise. Of these, two said to us "You are mistaken. They know what they are about. Andy Johnson is their tool."

The thought was too horrible to be entertained. It was too dreadful to believe that the man who had just received such marks of confidence from the loyal millions was simply a skillful actor playing patriot the better to serve the cause of treason; but these shrewd prophets shook their heads and said:

"You will see."

One thing was certain. The morning of the inauguration he was drinking freely with blatant Copperheads. His appearance on that occasion is matter of history; and the deep disgrace of it was never exaggerated by any published account. His intemperance was excused on the ground that they had drugged his brandy; and it is possible they may have done so, but certainly not with the view of doing him a fatal injury; for since the beginning of the second month of his Presidency they have been his visitors and apparently confidential friends. That class of Washingtonians who never went to the White House while President Lincoln lived, but always refused to recognize him as President, and spoke of him with scorn, began at once to visit Johnson, and were graciously received. The first the public knew of this was given to the Constitutional Union, and was exposed on the ground that Tom Florence, its editor, was the President's personal friend. So he was, and is, and is to be. He, the editor of a paper that most loyal men thought should have been suppressed during the war for its disloyalty—the blatant, brawling, pot-house politician, editor of a traitorous sheet which aided Johnson's election by linking his name with that of Lincoln in the shape headed upon him, was all the time the personal friend and confidant of Johnson, and was thus early and publicly acknowledged as such.

Can it be possible that it was part of the assassination plot to get rid of one then in secret bonds of friendship with Northern leaders of the Union rather? or was that stupid, miserable wretch, Atzerodt, duped into the belief that they wished him to commit a crime which they knew he had not the courage to perpetrate, and which he should find no opportunity to commit? That they intended to get rid of President Lincoln and Seward there can be no doubt. The attempt on Stanton's life was likewise in good faith, but the chain links of the evidence were not closely followed on the trial, and the necessity for his death was not imminent, for he could be removed.

The business was to get the President, and they got him. That it was the South which nominated Johnson, through indirect influence; that Johnson labored cunningly for that nomination by boisterous profession of loyalty, and by thrusting forward of olive pledges, designed to be broken, which he no longer any doubt. That he was prepared beforehand to serve the purposes of treason there can be no doubt; that his administration and plot we have no longer the shadow of a doubt.

This did not make it necessary that he should have known of the intended assassination. We do not think either Tyler or Ellmore knew that the men who used them intended murdering Harrison and Taylor; but in all those cases the conspirators knew their men; and these three Presidents, made Presidents by assassination, are each, with their Administrations, as much incidents of the rebellion—assassination from the start—as the battlefields and unexpected murderers who planted that rebellion, as was the starvation of our men at Andersonville or the poisoning of our armies. Whether known or unknown to Johnson, his veto message is the further unfolding of the assassination plot.

That a revolution was a change of base in the late war for the destruction of the Union. The veto is the Sumter guns of the second era of the war, and it will probably be followed by a Bull Run and Bull's Bluff—by disaster and perhaps apparent defeat to the loyal until its whose weapons are once more turned upon them by their trusted agents. And now Johnson has his plain message. He is in full sympathy with the South, and will allow him the present advantage to the bitter end. Let the people nerve themselves to do what they can. They can and will save the Government; but there is great danger of a repetition of the mistakes and delays and dreadful disasters of the first stage of this war. There is great danger of a Rebellion of the camps, as under some political Buchanan.

Could the people be made to feel that the assassins of President Lincoln are now the honored guests of the White House—that this veto is a part of the murderous programme—Northern Copperheads would not insult a loyal people by their insolent rejoicings, and the traitors of the South would stand aghast before their indignation.

The Railway Across the Continent.

The Stockton (Cal.) Independent publishes an excellent article on the Northern Pacific Railway, from which we extract the following:

This northern railway route, which meets with so much favor among the capitalists of New and Old England has many advantages over any other. It is shorter by 550 miles, than the San Francisco and Chicago route, and by 350 miles than the San Francisco and St. Louis route,—passing Stockton, on Puget Sound, as the western terminus. This, at an average cost of $40,000 per mile, is $16,000,000 in its favor. It passes through a fertile country, well watered and well timbered nearly all the way from St. Paul to the Rocky Mountains, and from thence to Stellacoom, through a region abundant in timber and containing very many rich agricultural valleys. The entire route is capable of dense and prosperous settlement. It follows the line of the Yellowstone, which is a continuous fertile valley, well timbered and grassed, a milder climate than Northern Illinois. The isothermal line of Philadelphia passes through the valley of the Yellowstone and through Puget Sound. The traffic of the road will be fed by at least a half a score of the Southern tributaries of the Yellowstone and Missouri, to wit: the Little Missouri, Powder river, Tongue river, Clark's Fork and the Big Horn—all of which are navigable for from 100 to 500 miles, and the valleys of which being well timbered, fertile and mild in climate, are destined speedily to contain large and prosperous populations. It is stated by those who ought to know whereof they speak, that the Bear Lodge Pass of the Rocky Mountains (or Clark's Pass, as it is called on the old maps,) is gradual and easy, and will require no tunnelling but little rocky excavation. There will be but 15 miles grade on the line—less anywhere east of the Rocky Mountains than is encountered every winter on the Grand Trunk Railway, or on most any of the railroads that lead into Chicago. Clark's Pass has an altitude of but 5,000 feet above sea level; the altitude of the South Pass is 7,000 feet.

Another and very great advantage in favor of this northern route is that the lands voted by Congress in aid of its construction are the most valuable of any of the unsettled lands on the continent for farming purposes. The company is to receive alternate sections—in all nearly 50,000,000 acres—worth, at Government prices, $62,500,000; more than all the agricultural lands from the Sierra Nevada to the Missouri river, between latitude 42° and 38° will ever be worth. The lands alone will pay three-fourths of the whole cost of the road, estimating it at $40,000 per mile, which is from three to four thousand more than the average cost of the 30,000 miles of railway built in the United States up to the year 1865. The whole cost of the road will not exceed $60,000,000. The Government premium will cost or all but $22,000,000. Let no one suppose that Boston and Chicago will hesitate about the investment. They are at work now as busy as bees organizing for a vigorous start, and ten to one the steam horse will reach Virginia City, Mont

The Scope of the Civil Rights Bill

There are many persons who, spite of all that has been said about the civil rights bill, and notwithstanding the fact that the bill itself has been published in the journals of this coast for more than four weeks, still perversely misunderstand its provisions, or foolishly refuse to be informed what they are. These persons stickle over the question of suffrage, and insist that the civil rights bill gives the ballot to negroes, Chinamen and all other classes hitherto excluded from that privilege. The Democratic paper at Eugene City, among others, asserts this Now if this be ignorance there is no excuse for it, and if it be willful mis-statement (as it most likely is,) it is a mode of falsehood too reprehensible for anybody but Democrats to be guilty of. The last section of the bill expressly provides that nothing in the enactment shall be construed as touching the question of suffrage. This ought to effectually dispose of that matter. The bill, it is true, makes all persons born in the United States (excluding Indians not taxed) citizens of this country; but this only places them under the protection of the laws, giving them power to maintain their inalienable rights. We expect the Copperheads to obstinately close their eyes against the bill, refuse forever to become acquainted with it, and cry out "negro equality" whenever it is spoken of. In "Winter's Tale" Camillo says of those who shut up the avenues of their senses against the most palpable facts:

> You may as well
> Forbid the sea for to obey the moon,
> As or, by oath, remove, or counsel, shake
> The fabric of their folly

This exactly describes the Copperheads who are perpetually harping on the civil rights bill, but who yet refuse to know, or knowingly misrepresent, the thing which they condemn.

A Contemptible Trick Shown Up.

A day or two since, we published an extract from a speech of Henry A. Wise, containing the most palpably treasonable language, such as would have graced the pulmiest days of the defiantly braggart chivalry. We rightly denounced it as "rampant, shameless treason." The Herald had published the entire speech, in parts of which occurred appeals for charity in behalf of suffering orphans of soldiers killed in the rebel service. Of those portions of the speech, we said nothing—our remarks were pointedly in relation to the language which we quoted, and to no other part of the speech. The veriest fool could not mistake the intent of our language, and the most soulless villain could not twist it into an application to these other passages of Wise's speech, in which he appeals for charity. The Herald, however, attempts to do so by saying that we pronounced the speech treasonable, and then reproducing another paragraph (and one which did credit to the heart of Mr. Wise,) in such manner as to leave the impression upon its readers that the extract published by the Herald was the same as that published and commented on by the OREGONIAN. The extract published by the OREGONIAN did contain the most unqualified and shameless treason. The one published by the Herald (as the same) contained nothing to which the warm heart of philanthropy would not instantly respond. The Herald then says:

> The OREGONIAN denies it "rank and rampant, shameless treason" to beg for "a crumb" for "the orphan, the orphan of the patriot, the female orphan, the orphan fallen on evil times."

The paragraph which we have just quoted from the Herald, is a brazen, shameless falsehood and the writer, whoever he was, knew it when he penned it. He knew that the whole tenor of his article—attempting to show that our remarks had reference to Wise's appeals for the orphans—was low, dirty and false. He knew that he was doing what an honest, man could never attempt. So much for that, now see what the saintly hypocrite says further:

> We care not what may be said by the OREGONIAN, or any other heartless, hardened, soulless organ of the Radicals; may our right hand forget its cunning and our tongue cleave to the roof of our mouth, if we do not speak a kind word, on all suitable occasions, in behalf of the poor, the female orphan, the orphan fallen on evil times. May the curse of the Almighty rest upon us if "we do not heed their cries, and in some way help the helpless ones."

You "speak a kind word on all suitable occasions!" You, who stood with hands crammed in your pockets to prevent a penny escaping from them into the charity boxes set up in all the churches, at every cross roads, and in almost every human household, for the relief of the orphans of your neighbors, maimed by treason, You, who never felt compassion or pity for orphanage, till the appeal came from a man just from the reeking carnival of treason! You, who encouraged traitorous scoundrels through hopes of counter-rebellion in the North, to continue for years in the work of making widows and orphans! You, talk of speaking "a kind word, on all suitable occasions" for widow and orphanhood! The wonder is that your tongue does not cleave to the roof of your mouth, even while you utter the hypocritical words. You talk of "helping the helpless ones!" How much did you ever give to the Sanitary Society and Christian Commission who helped "the helpless ones," the wounded and dying of both armies on the field? You talk of helping the helpless! How much did you ever give to alleviate the woes and sufferings of the widows and orphans whose noble husbands and fathers were slain and starved by your friends—traitors? What did you call the men who sacrificed their own lives and their families' happiness, ease, comforts and necessaries of life, for freedom and right and good government? Such endearing epithets as "minions," "dogs," "hirelings," "mercenary tools of a tyrant," and similar affectionate terms, did you not? You thought that was sufficient consolation for the orphans of Union soldiers, didn't you? What did you say of the noble women, angels of light and mercy, who left the joys of home all behind, to minister on the field and in the hospitals, to the wounded, sick, dying? You said they were "disreputable," did you not? Now, that the war is over, and a grateful people are caring as best they can for the poor orphan, fallen on evil times, you are suddenly roused to an ecstasy of fervor to say something in favor of helping the helpless! Had you not thought, however, that with a base trick you could make a point against the OREGONIAN and its loyal friends, how much would you even have been moved to say about helping the helpless? How much are you going to do now that you have said. We will venture that you never did give as much as a three cent postage stamp to help the helpless orphan of a loyal soldier, and never will! If your copperhead record for five years is entered upon the books whereby all men shall be judged, you may well fear the "curse of the Almighty," instead of impiously invoking it as you did yesterday

In Obsequies.

CHICAGO, April 14.—In the Senate Wednesday, the 11th, Mr. Conness, on leave, introduced a bill to extend the time for the construction of the first section of the Western Pacific Railroad, which was read twice and referred to the Committee on the Pacific Railroad. Mr. Bidwell's Agricultural College bill, which passed the House on Wednesday, extends the time two years, within which time the States may accept the provisions of the act of July 23, 1866, and allows three years after the acceptance for the building of the college, the Territories to be entitled to the benefits upon their admission into the Union. The act did not apply to the States lately in rebellion. Mr. Bidwell endeavored to make exceptional cases—one in favor of Washington Territory, which in 1862 took some steps for establishing a college, under the belief that the act of 1862 allowed them to do so; but other Territories wishing to be admitted, Mr. Bidwell withdrew his amendment. Mr. Molliter presented the petition of F. F. Low and other citizens of California, for an additional duty on foreign salt, which was referred. Mr. Nye reported in the Senate on Wednesday, a bill for the relief of naval contractors, covering total appropriations of $2,367,627 for losses sustained in construction, the principal items being $177,003 on the Camanche, $110,000 each on the Tecumseh, Matopse and Manhatan, with an item of $24,161 on the Watoree.

Mr. Grimes said that he opposed the bill because it was an omnibus bill. He was particularly opposed to the Camanche item because it was illegal to be based on the depreciation of the Federal currency in California, which he said it was obvious the mutineers could not allow He believed there were many fair claims in the bill, and was disposed to make proper remuneration to the Camanche contractors.

Mr. Grimes defended the Camanche claim, but said the Watoree's was wholly unjustifiable. He thought the whole was damaged by such items.

Mr. Hendrickson defended the entire bill, but after further debate no conclusion was reached.

Mr. Rousseau's bill for a military road through Oregon, which was reported in the House on Tuesday from the Military committee, appropriates $15,000 for its survey and donates to the State of Oregon three tiers of alternate sections of land on each side of the road for its construction.

Mr. Henderson stated the road would be about 250 miles long, passing Camp Watson and Canyon City mining camps at a place called Humboldt basin, and so on to the Snake river through a country infested with Indians. The road was very important to that section. Its construction is recommended by the commander of that military department. Various objections being made and considerable debate, Doolittle was moved to refer it to the committee on Public lands.

The House, to-day, had but a brief session on account of the anniversary of Lincoln's assassination.

BUT ONE ANSWER.—Not a word can be uttered in advocacy of justice, nor a sentiment expressed in defense of the rights of man, but the Democracy begin to scream about negro equality "Negro equality," says the Democratic journal of this city, "is one of the principal issues of the day" The invariable reply to every argument that is made in behalf of impartial justice is "You want negro equality." Tristam Shandy tells us that his Uncle Toby, no matter what subject was under discussion, would always interpose or reply with the remark: "I wish you could have seen how large an army we had in Flanders." Uncle Toby's favorite remark was not more irrelevant than this constant twaddle of the Copperheads about the social equality of the races.

THE OREGON ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE.—The Institution at East Portland, for the protection and relief of the unfortunate part of the population of Oregon for which a credit to the State. One day last week, at the invitation of the visiting Physician, we spent a few hours in observing the improvements that have been added to the Institution since last year, by the present Dr. Hawthorne. The addition alone last year, by the present Dr. Hawthorne. The addition alone last year, by the present Dr. Hawthorne. Our own citizens will be surprised at the order and convenience of the establishment at the present time. The main or center portion of the building, has assumed the proportions of a three story frame, well ventilated and lighted, forty feet square; the first floor of which is the 12 feet ceiling, and the second and third stories, 11 feet each. A new wing of two stories each with ceiling, of 12 feet, 34 by 80 feet in size has been built upon the north side, and the south wing made to conform to it exactly, with all the modern improvements. There are now eleven rooms in the building, in each one of which is a bathing room, with hot and cold water patent closets etc. There are altogether 100 rooms for patients in the Asylum ranging from the main halls, all of which are ventilated in connection with the best plans. The stoves are all strong and secured from accident to the unfortunates by heavy iron grates. In the rear of the above described premises is the County Hospital, a detached building of 1½ stories, 20 by 60 feet. Also the dining room, 1½ stories, 36 by 60 feet. The bakery in which is a brick oven 12 feet long by 7 feet wide, is adjoining the dining room building. The supply of water for the entire institution is now furnished from a reservoir, situated on the corner of the County Hospital, upon a strongly framed tower with a base of 30 feet square by 30 feet at the top and about the lower floors of the buildings. The reservoir has a capacity for 12,000 gallons of water, taken from the stream that passes the Asylum. The day we were at the Institution the gentlemen were out for their exercise, as also for the promenade, consisting of two squares, one of three and the other of six acres, enclosed with a high fence. At this time there are 43 male and 19 female patients in the departments for the insane besides 14 male and female, in the County Hospital. The Institution, including attendants and patients numbers 118 persons. It is doubtful whether a better location could have been selected for this beneficial Institution. The drainage is perfect, and the entire grounds, some seventy-five acres, is becoming really a great attraction. The benefits arising from the management, and the location, will be seen, when it is stated that the percentage of expenses here, in proportion to the number of patients, is one-third less than any other institution of the character in the United States, and is four per cent better than the Asylum at Stockton Cal., as we learn from the last report by the Legislature of that State. Healthiness depends in very great measure upon cleanliness everywhere, and cleanliness is absolutely necessary to cleanliness. Dry earth is much in places, and we observe in this respect one of the strong points in the success which has been attained by Drs. Hawthorne & Loryea. The gentlemen carry on farming to a certain extent, for the purpose of supplying the institution with the necessaries of life, and it would be of value to our farming community to make visits to the farm of the Asylum for information concerning the management of the buildings, etc. A pig-pen, sixty by feet, two stories high, is the most complete arrangement for the grand objects of fattening and killing that we have investigated for years. The feed is all kept in the upper story, from which it is lowered to the feed room through a hopper, to be prepared by cooking over furnaces that supply hot water for scalding in killing time as well as for mixing the feed. The stalls are airy; 7 oil and lead into the range, and the entire building will accommodate seventy-two hogs in the various stalls, from a pig to a full fattened porker. The whole is also an attraction, built after the style of a railroad depot, or railroad station wood-shed. Our visit was the more gratifying to us, after looking through the institution thoroughly, because of the fact which forced itself upon our mind that the wandering intellects of most of the unfortunate persons there would be eventually collected, and that really there were but few in the Asylum who may be considered incurable.

PERSONAL CORRESPONDENCE.—The Boise Statesman has had a spicy correspondent in Portland. On March 24th he said he expected to have been in "the States" before the 4th, but he was yet in the State of Oregon, and also in a state of suspense, on account of certain drafts drawn by the Superintendent of the Victor Mining Company, about his know that the money deposited for their benefit was all spent out. This the correspondent denominates "Gambling," with all its variations, abounds here as much as ever, notwithstanding the strict legislation pro[hibi]t. The Sunday law is more effective, and so is the city looks externally, as sanctified as could be of a day by any of the Orthodox who believe in the Mosaic law. Base callers, where one can in walked in, and "rolled" if he gets drunk enough, are a common institution here. I danced to go into one last night, being on a tour of observation, where I saw a strapping, big, yellow-haired man with a man, selectifically, for refusing to treat her."

WRECK OF THE TIMANDRA.—The telegraph furnishes particulars of the wreck of the English steamer Tabasco on the 17th inst., on Point Rays. The general impression prevalent in this community upon the reception of the news yesterday was: that the wreck was another of those "durable" old class of vessels spoken of by many as "pretty, which "wear their age," having heavier timbers than ships built in these latter days, where speed is sought for at the expense of strength, etc., but this is taken upon hearsay, is a wrong impression. That it was a general thing came from old rule, about the only one of which there is some question, is not disputable, but to this case very probably the ship was a Clipper. She was owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, and had lately been refitted at an expense of nearly $50,000. She was of a large class of vessels, and was very likely drawing a great depth of water, which may have been the cause of her striking the reef. The reef is about twenty miles off the Heads at San Francisco, and was in a fair, great line of life is not likely to occur from such causes.

[illegible]—We are glad to announce that Messrs. Watkins, Edgar and Buchanan have decided to start in [illegible] the mining regions of Montana, connecting with Wells, Fargo & Co. at Walla Walla. Mr. Edgar will leave Walla Walla on Thursday of the present week, to make the first trip. The importance of this route like this at once commends itself to the public, and under the management of the gentlemen named, cannot fail to supply an increasing want to the utmost satisfaction. The record of Messrs. Watkins, Edgar & Co. is of such a recommendation for the fidelity with which all business under their hands. Success [illegible] that will be more than likely to characterize their future business under their hands. Success [illegible]

DEPARTURE OF THE STEAMER NEVADA.—The California Oregon and Mexico Company's steamer Sierra Nevada will leave this evening at five o'clock for San Francisco. Her cargo is as follows: 1,822 boxes fruit; 40 cases merchandise; 3 bales wool; 186 sacks potatoes; 9 bales skins; 315 kegs and boxes butter; 8 sacks onions; 2 sacks dried; 2 cases cider; 5 cases tobacco. Treasure was shipped by Wells, Fargo & Co.

Wells, Fargo & Co.	$75,000
Ladd & Tilton	30,000
Corbett Brothers	20,000
Total	$125,000

VALUABLE QUARTZ.—An assay by Wells, Fargo & Co., of the specimen of 600 pounds of quartz, worked by W. Hugh Farrar of this city yesterday, shows a value of $60 per ton, nearly [illegible] of which is gold and the [illegible] silver. The ledge is said to be very extensive and quite [illegible] lies. The location is about sixteen miles north east of the town of Vancouver by the principally traveled road. Rock from another ledge in the same vicinity is expected over to-day for a similar test.

[illegible]—We were in error yesterday in stating that Mr. Gabriel Parmiter was one of the parties found guilty of [illegible] of the statutes before Justice Moore of Oregon City. Mr. P. is a law abiding citizen. The persons found guilty were named Thompson, a father and two sons. The son of Mr. Parmiter was one of the persons [illegible] by the Thompsons, and received a stab in the back. Mr. Parmiter was one of the witnesses for the [illegible].

A DRUNK ONE.—A rather unruly domestic in the family of would-be citizens was restrained of her liberty by the Police in consequence of having imbibed too freely of the critter, which she had smuggled into the kitchen. Good servant girls are a scarcity in Portland. The one in question seems to have hailed from San Francisco lately, and it is to [illegible] has been an inmate of an Insane Asylum, or at least should be.

FRANK WEBSTER.—In our Extra of yesterday the name of E. R. Webster appeared among those killed by the explosion on California street, San Francisco. The name, we are subsequently learned by telegraph, should have been Frank Webster. He was well known here in 1862-3, at which time he was engaged in general merchandise in company with Brooks Previtt, Esq., now of Umatilla.

THE LATEST.—Intelligence of earthquake at San Francisco come off on the 20th. The Alta says that just after the earthquakes officer Barnum picked up a half-barrel of crushed ginger, on [illegible] street, for which no owner is wanted at the Police office. Ordinary shakes are experienced daily, but the real frenzied ones are but occasional—say once in the thirty days. So a friend from there, now here, [illegible] accounting of the habits of the Web-feet, informs us.

THE HALL AND SUPPER.—The fair and entertainment given last evening by the ladies of the liberal Christian Organization about to be inaugurated in this city, was a very successful one. The sum realized was quite a handsome amount, and we hope will form a beginning of the fund to be devoted to the purchase of a Sunday School library.

SHERIFF'S COURT.—Francis Blackenstone was fined $5 and costs for assaulting Henry Morrison, upon trial before Justice Hoffman yesterday. The amount was paid. Charles Wilson, one of the regular drunks, was committed to jail for two days.

A REPLEVIN QUESTION.—A civil suit was pending yesterday before Justice Hoffman, for the recovery of a safe said to have been [illegible] forcibly taken from the premises of Mr. [illegible] possession by one Daly, a fish dealer, and former partner of the plaintiff.

CHANGE OF.—The weather "cleared up" several times yesterday. The last shower was a good one, rather wet, and a little cold, but the sun being so near makes things smoke when it sheds its rays.

AUCTION SALES.—Our readers will always find it of importance to peruse the auction sales column. To-day Mr. [illegible] offers two elegant pictures for sale, among other articles.

THE COMING STEAMERS.—Private dispatches state that the Orizaba left San Francisco on Sunday, and she would leave to-day, for Portland.

THE TELEGRAPH.—The schooner J. C. Chapin cleared last night with a full cargo—about 40 tons of generally merchandise, agricultural tools, etc.

WRECK.—The tug-boat Mary Patch which arrived a few days since loaded with hard-wood, was yesterday towed to the large shore between street where she will discharge

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its influence and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the ocsis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from any ordinary stimulants. HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of Health. "But how?" you ask; We answer, 'tis an easy task, Strengthen the Stomach, and sustain The Nerves, the servants of the brain. The Liver keep in active play And regulate, from day to day. Each organ aid, on Nature's plan, Brace and refresh the INNER MAN, And like a watch limit's kept in chime By constant care, with railroad time, The system a tone and strength renew, And cheerful's cheer the spirits, too. "How," you inquire, "can this be done? This victory o'er Disease be won?" "HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply, Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PRESERVATIVE—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the human air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influences of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS,

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and gripe
The body, and depress the mind:
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dyspeptic pains,
Death which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those insidious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Direst diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For those—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, heart and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To householders in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

[A gentleman recently from San Francisco remarks that there is quite as much truth as poetry in the following]

Fever blowing, colder growing, sweeping madly through the town;
Never ceasing, ever teasing, never pleasing, never down,
Day or night dark or light
Sands a flying, clapboards sighing—
Groaning, moaning, whistling shrill,
Shrieking wild, and never still.

In September in November or December ever so
Even in August with the raw gust, flying fine dust roughly blow
Doors are slamming, gates a banging,
Shingles filtering, casements quivering—
Roaring pouring madly yelling,
Tales of storm and shipwreck telling.

In our bay, too, vessels buy to finding no shelter from the blast
White-caps dashing, bright spray splashing light foam flashing—dashing past
Yards are creaking, blocks a squeaking,
Rudder rattling, ropes all clattering,
Tugging tugging at the anchor
Groaning spars and restless spanker

Now the sun gleams, bright the day seems—hark! he comes—he comes—he heard the worst
Haste to building dread impelling, heap the fire, close the door
Onward coming, humming, drumming,
Groaning moaning, sighing, crying
Shrieking, squeaking—reader, (he say)—
Thus bloweth the wind at—San Francisco

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

A PROSPECTIVE PRESENT TO THE CITY OF PORTLAND

NEW YORK, March 10th, 1866

In one of the counting rooms of Messrs. A E. & C E. Tilton, almost exclusively set apart by those gentlemen for the use of persons hailing from Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Washington Territory, may at present be seen a bust of Lieut. General Grant, cast in Plaster Paris, by Mr. W. H. Phillip, to the correctness of which the General, under his own signature, certifies that he sat for the same, and that according to the opinion of his most intimate friends, the bust was a perfect fac simile of himself. An additional testimony to the same effect is signed by his brother in-law, Gen. Dent, and to which I have the vanity of adding my own weighty testimony (?) for I have had the pleasure of seeing that distinguished personage on several occasions. The artist, Mr. Phillip, proposes to furnish a copy of the bust now on exhibition, chiseled in marble, for the sum of $1,500, and a number of gentlemen yesterday drew up the following heading to a subscription list, which explains its purpose to your readers:

We the undersigned agree to pay the sums affixed to our names respectively, for a marble bust of Lieutenant General Grant, to be presented to the city of Portland, Oregon.

The following names and sums of money are already attached to the subscription: Geo. L. Curry, $100; Danl. F. Bradford, $100; C. E. Tilton, $100; J. Marion Moore, $100; S. B. Parrish, $100. There is no doubt that the sum needed to accomplish the above purpose will soon be subscribed, your citizens, therefore, may expect to be formally presented, at no early day, with a marble bust of the great military captain of the age. In connection with the foregoing, I think it not improper to suggest that a number of Portlanders at home raise enough money to procure a similar bust of our late martyr President, whom all parties at this time seem to revere. Both of the busts mentioned might adorn your city hall, pointing out to your children's children the history which this American Republic has been making the past four years.

THE FENIANS—IMMENSE MASS MEETINGS—ARMS AND MONEY POURING INTO HEADQUARTERS—FRIGHT OF THE CANADIANS.

To write a letter in our day, and not state anything about the Fenians, would be ignoring one of the most exciting topics of the day. Since the the news arrived from Europe of the suspension of the will of habeas corpus in Ireland, our Celtic friends have been holding mass meetings throughout the country, exhorting their friends to prepare for action, asserting that their comrades in prison must be relieved; and judging from the numbers which attend these meetings, and the enthusiasm exhibited, I think they mean to dare and do; and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the Fenian organization will yet become England's knightly foe. The people throughout the United States are disposed to be perfectly neutral (a la Britishers) during the coming struggle. Many ship owners who lost vessels from the neutrality of England during our late rebellion, offer to fit out several Alabamas and Florodocks for the Navy Department of the Irish Republic.

The steamer which arrived from Europe yesterday, brings us the news that the English Government, after having declined any further discussion about the claims of the United States against them for losses sustained by the pirates they sent out during the rebellion, is disposed to refer the matter to arbitration and perhaps agree up to the captain's office and settle.(?)

But to recur to the doings of the Fenians. The meeting held by them on last Sunday in "Jones' Wood" surpassed anything of the kind I have ever witnessed. To show you how deeply interested the Irish people are in the cause, Arch Bishop McClosky issued an edict which was read in all the churches, forbidding the holding of the meeting on Sunday, and denouncing the whole movement; but at the time the edict was read, the churches, instead of having their usual number of listeners, had nobody present but old women and a few men.

DISTURBANCE IN ST. BRIDGET'S CHURCH.

While the officiating clergyman at this church, corner of Avenue B and Eighth street, was reading from the altar yesterday Archbishop McCloskey's letter denouncing the projected Fenian meeting at Jones' Wood, a young man in the congregation stood up and protested in the most vehement manner against the reading of the letter and any interference with Fenianism on the part of the clergy. Considerable excitement was caused by this unexpected scene, and the clergyman called on several members of the congregation to put the dissenter out, but they all refused to comply with his request. The commotion quieted down after some time.

At the same time, at Jones' Wood, over one hundred thousand Fenians were assorting that they were engaged in a holy cause.

THE SCARE IN CANADA.

The Canadians are awfully frightened, having the constant fear of General Sweeny and his Fenians before their eyes. Besides, it is no pleasant thing for them to recollect the St. Albans' raid, the Lake Erie piracies, city burning plottings and the like. Yesterday ten thousand Canadian militia were under arms on the frontier and "nary" enemy in sight. But when Sweeny gets ready, all the Canadians put together, if our Government don't interfere, cannot keep them out of Canada, which they will make a starting point for Ireland. So, are this reaches you, the telegraph may have advised you of startling events. In the meantime, arms and money are accumulating in large quantities at both the Fenian head quarters in this city and Chicago. Query? wonder how the scotch in Victoria feel on the subject? Are they not, frightened, of would they like to be snatched from Her Royal Highness and become Americans?

DEATH OF THE FOUNDER OF THE CAMPBELLITE SECT.

Alexander Campbell, of West Virginia, died at his home in Bethany, on March 4th, at the advanced age of seventy-eight years. He was a native of Scotland, and was a Presbyterian minister until 1812, when he became a Baptist. In 1827, he denounced all human creeds, pronouncing the Bible alone a sufficient rule of faith and practice, and setting forth some peculiar ideas as to immersion. He found many followers who called themselves Disciples or Campbellites, numbering in 1842, by estimate, three hundred and fifty thousand members.

In 1841 Mr. Campbell founded Bethany College, of which he was President until his death. The college was successful, having often one hundred and fifty or two hundred students. He aimed to keep clear of the anti slavery agitation, but the churches have been much rent and scattered by the rebellion. He was a man of much learning and great activity and energy, and often engaged in religious controversy, both with unbelievers and with Christian of other denominations.

COURT YOUR CASH BEFORE YOU GET MARRIED.

Thergis a civil suit now pending in one of the courts in Cincinnati, Ohio. The plaintiff is a Mrs Jane I Long, and the defendants, the owners of the steamboat General Buell. The former avers in the complaint that she shipped two trunks and their contents at Louisville in September, 1865, to be delivered at Cincinnati, asserting that the articles mentioned in the schedule belong legitimately to a lady's wardrobe. The following are the contents of the trunks as read in court

Mozambique dress skirt, $25; Chocker grenadine, $10; black alpaca do $47; silver colored grenadine do $45; delaine do $20, lawn skirts, $20, lawn dress, $15, drab silk do, and mantle, $130; Canbric underskirts, $21, muslin underskirts, $52, 2 balmoral skirts, $35; night wrappers, $36; 1 doz. emb'd lenen chemises, $102 velvet hat, $13, nine silk belts and sashes $17 60, toilet soap $12; lawn drawers, $40; silk bangue 30, velvet black tubi, $10, ivory comb $12, fans, $20, jewelry, $81, gold bracelet, $140; pearl ear-rings, $90, silver salt-cellars lined with gold, $50, gold buckle, $30 Total, including a few other articles, $2,004.

A list was also read of articles in one of the trunks not lost, which contained about a dozen dresses, ranging in price from $60 up to $140

The above suit, which is being tried before a jury, if it should be decided that the articles afore mentioned belong legitimately to a lady's ward robe there is no telling how many ambitious young candidates for hymonial bliss would have to hide their time until they are able to supply the necessary wardrobe

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

The bill to amend an act to prevent the spread of foreign diseases among the cattle of the United States, [approved December last] as it passed both Houses, having been signed by the President, is now a law

It provides that the importation of neat cattle and the hide of neat cattle from any foreign country into the United States, [which is prohibited, provided that the provisions of this act shall be suspended as to any foreign country or countries, or any parts of such countries, whenever the Secretary of the Treasury shall officially determine and give public notice thereof that such importation will not tend to the introduction or spread of contagious or infectious diseases among the cattle of the United States.

Section 2 provides that the President of the United States, whenever in his judgment such importation of cattle or hides is without danger the law may become inoperative after a thirty days proclamation

Section 3 provides that any person convicted of a will ful violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court

In England, the disease seems to be unabated. Vaccination as a remedy is a failure. The number attacked since the commencement of the plague is 148,923, of which 111,100 have died or been killed The steamer Java, which arrived yesterday from Europe, brings the following additional

The number of cattle attacked with the plague during the week ending Feb. 17th was 13,901—the highest number yet recorded in a single week.

LIFE INSURANCE IN OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

T Hope, Treasurer of Board of Underwriters, presented to President Pinkney of the Board of Fire Commissioners, 552 life insurance policies, which will cover the person of every member at present belonging to the Metropolitan Paid Fire Department. The donation was made on behalf of the Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters. The policy secures to the family of the recipient, or his successor if removed or dismissed for cause, or at his own option, $1,000 for coming to his death while in discharge of his duties, or five dollars per week in case he suffers any injury causing disability to discharge duties—this latter extending, however, for only twenty-six weeks for any one accident.

PREPARATIONS TO RECEIVE AN UNWELCOME VISITOR.

The National, State and municipal authorities on this Atlantic border are making strenous efforts to exclude, if possible, the much dreaded cholera, which is expected to arrive here from the east about next summer. Congress has before it a bill to establish laws for a cordon of quarantines for ships arriving along the Atlantic coast during the coming year. The New York State authorities have already passed a special quarantine law. The commissioners appointed to enforce it into effect have selected the "west bank" at the entrance of the harbor as a site for the erection of a quarantine hospital, warehouses, etc. Three wooden buildings are to be constructed there—a hospital, hotel and warehouse. The estimated cost of the whole is about a million and a quarter dollars. The work cannot be commenced until an appropropriation is made by the Legislature. Intelligence has been received by one of the New Orleans steamship companies, that a military order has been issued, ordering all vessels arriving from the West India Islands to be subjected to twenty-five days quarantine. During the past winter the cholera prevailed in the islands.

CHINA.

Notwithstanding the severity with which the judges of the criminal courts mete out justice to offenders, crime of all sorts is still rampant in this city and its surroundings. The papers daily teem with accounts of murders, arson, burglaries, robberies and suicides. Only day, before yesterday, a most brutal act of murder accompanied by robbery was committed in the city of Brooklyn in broad daylight. The case is stated as follows:

A Mr. Wm. Collins, who kept a jewelry store in 4th street, was found by a neighbor on Saturday, lying upon the floor of his store bleeding and in an insensible condition. He was conveyed to his residence, No. 168 Washington street, and attended to consciousness for few minutes the next day; when he stated that a man came into his store and gave him a two dollar bill in payment for a breastpin. He went out to get the change and returned to the store, which was the last he recollected. He then relapsed again into unconsciousness, in which state he remained until 3 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning, when he died. A medical examination showed that his skull had been fractured by a heavy blow. An examination of the store showed that it had been robbed of twenty or thirty watches besides a quantity of jewelry.

At about 2 o'clock yesterday morning a barkeeper killed one of his customers in a row at his drinking saloon on the corner of James' Slip and Water street. The foregoing are but daily occurrences.

GENERAL GEARY.—When General Geary was nominated lately for Governor of Pennsylvania, a dispatch was received from General Joe Hooker, highly endorsing the nomination. W. W. Ketcham, who was the unsuccessful candidate, said:

He was a good deal in the position of Lincoln after his defeat in Illinois. He felt like the boy who had stumped his toe; it was a little too much to laugh over, but not enough for a man to cry over. He pledged General Geary a hearty support. The Convention had chosen a man to bear the standard of progressive liberty to victory, and he would follow. Though defeated himself, he was proud of the spirit that nominated General Geary. Copperheads who had been grinning and carping around the streets of Harrisburg, in the hope that there would be dissensions in the Union Convention, may take this result to bed with them to-night.

General J. K. Morehead spoke at length, promising to go with General Geary and fight with him until the battle was fought out. We were going, he said, to have a very fierce campaign. Every man must do what he can; but the hero would be elected by a triumphant majority.

A SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.—The people of Bristol (Conn.), emulating the example of other New England towns, are about to erect a monument in memory of their townsmen who fell in the war It was designed by J. G. Batterson, and is to cost $2,000. It is of Portland free stone, twenty five feet in height and consists of a shaft, at the lower portion of which are a raised Union shield and the Connecticut State arms combined, with festooned drapery and a wreath. In the centre of the main shaft, in raised work, are regimental colors and a musket crossed, a sword, belt, cartridge box, etc., and above and below this are the inscriptions, "Antietam" and "Atlanta." Surmounting the shaft is an elegant capital, on which rests a ball and eagle.

The Louisville Journal states with regret that its correspondent, writing from Georgia, remarks:

Georgia is not working up to the President's standard, and, in my opinion, does not intend to do it. A code for the freedmen has been reported by a committee appointed for that purpose by the convention which remodeled the Constitution, and the Legislature is now at work on it. A stray copy has fallen into my hands, and, after a careful examination, I have come to the conclusion that it is all wrong. The cardinal principle, the key to the solution of the proposition as to the future status of the negro is not understood or acted upon in any of the States."

The Georgians understand the situation. They have no need of working up to the President's gold standard, for he has worked down to theirs.

SOMETHING NEW AND NOVEL.—A PATENT APPLIED FOR.—Mr Reeder has invented an article by which he can take any number of Head Pictures on the same plate without the subject getting up from the chairs can get different positions of the faces and all sizes of heads, can put a half dozen heads on the space of a half dollar; can put a whole family of heads on a common sized card, and will sell pictures cheaper than any other Gallery on this coast. Has the process for taking the new and beautiful style pictures called the Porcelain or Iron Pearl, so much talked of in San Francisco, also has engaged a man from that place who has been making those pictures in San Francisco

Mr H is now prepared to do as good work and in as great a variety of style as any Gallery in Portland Orders for full portrait size of photograph will be promptly attended to apl8dlptf
